

Notice of Privacy Practices (NPP).

Substance Use Disorder (SUD) Record Protections: In accordance with federal best practices and 42 CFR Part 2, any records we receive that identify you as having a substance use disorder are granted enhanced protections. We may use and disclose these specific records for your treatment, our billing, and our healthcare operations with your broad written consent, which you may revoke at any time. Importantly, these records are strictly protected from use in legal, criminal, or administrative proceedings against you unless you provide specific consent or a court issues a unique order. If your records are shared for medical purposes, they may be subject to redisclosure by the recipient under HIPAA, but they will remain protected from use in legal proceedings as described above. If we use such information for fundraising, you will be provided a clear opportunity to opt out.
